WILL THE RIGHT CYLINDER REACH THE RIGHT DESTINATION?

Most errors are made when delivering gas cylinders to a customer. Companies implementing an automated solution in their supply chain can provide more reliable, safer and faster delivery, and achieve better customer satisfaction. TRAKAID™ CyTrack gives your business the benefits of all the four.

Does your logistics team frequently deliver similar looking cylinders marked for Customer A to Customer B? This mistake makes the cylinder worthless to the customer because its valve and pressure may be different. At customer pickup, are you able to capture a cylinder's physical damage and pass on information to a central location in order to bill damage to the customer and follow safety procedures? Is the cylinder then serviced before being put back in operation?

TRAKAID™ has introduced a comprehensive Logistics Solution as a add-on to any cylinder management solution, including CyTrack. Companies may implement the Solution on intelligent Auto Data Capture (ADC) devices, on a laptop or on a robust tablet with internet access. ADC technology is integral to automate data entry, as it eliminates errors encountered during manual data entry.

TRAKAID™ now offers companies its Cylinder Logistics Solution integrated with Auto Data Capture technology. The Logistics Solution encompasses all aspects of the delivery and pickup, provides the ability to automate data capture in the field that is valid, accurate, and complete, and automatically transfers instantly actionable data to a central office. Industry expertise that offers standardized processes and shortens employee training efforts is built in.

Many customers don't develop much loyalty towards individual businesses because the products offered are essentially undifferentiated across the industry. The critical sales drivers are the benefits of timely and accurate delivery of the right products and surety of receiving safe cylinders which are under test certification.

Ensure Accuracy, Increase Safety
Let TRAKAID™ Help Deliver the Right Cylinder
